This week In the Public Square

The Future of American Democracy

Upcoming broadcast - Oct 31st, 2008
AM 1380 KTKZ, Sacramento

On this last broadcast before the November 4th election, Host John Snyder will offer some observations on the condition of democracy in America and the cultural cracks that threaten and challenge basic assumptions regarding the principles of self-governance. Can a people govern themselves if they act and think irrationally? In addition, as a follow up on his October 17th show, John will make predictions regarding the future of American Foreign Policy, Israel, the Military, the Economy, Cultural trends, Taxation, the Supreme Court, the Family and the Church if America chooses Barack Obama as President and gives him a powerful Democratic majority in both houses. Predictions will also be made for John McCain just on the chance that he should somehow pull victory from the jaws of defeat.
